Notes.

This song is recorded in Document B pages 26 and 27.

Line 9. The expression  $\text{C}\Delta^{\text{nc}} \text{T}^{\text{n}}$  normally means “the world”, but literally it means “within the land”. Thus, though  $\text{L}_{\text{s}} \text{C}\Delta^{\text{nc}} \text{T}^{\text{n}}$  can mean “gone into the world”, its probable meaning here is simply, “gone out and about”. The zu-mu did not live locally, he had to be sought in a village some distance away.

Line 25. A note in the Miao text explains that  $\text{ɿ}^{\text{ɕ}} \text{ʒ}^{\text{c}}$  is a spider.

This song is recorded in Document B page 30.

Line 2. The initial  $\bar{\text{L}}' \text{CT}^v$ , which this conventional construction requires, is missing in the Miao text.

Line 9. The poetic construction suggests that, following this line, there ought to be another parallel to line 3. Sometimes, in such circumstances it is possible to reconstruct the missing line by reference to a similar passage in another song. In this case no such information is available.

Notes.

This song is recorded in Document B page 29.

Line 4. The word ㄘ<sup>n</sup> means “to climb”, but it is used before “table” to mean “to go to a meal”, before “boat” to mean “to board”, and before “door” to mean “to enter”.

Notes.

This song is recorded in Document B pages 27 and 28.

Line 1. The basic meaning of the word 'ᵀ is “people”, and in particular a community of people. In modern usage it refers to the Hua Miao who call themselves ᵀ ᵀ, “A-hmao”. The word is prefixed to names of villages and to clans, and here refers to seven groups of people, that is the seven sub-clans.

Line 1. The word 3ᵀ normally means “a kind” or “a sort”. In the present context it means “a clan”.

Line 2. The word Δᵀ has a wide sweep of meanings. In modern speech it means “spirit” and ᵀ Δᵀ is a verb meaning “to worship the spirits”. The basic meaning seems to be something having life, and in the old songs the word is regularly prefixed to the names of animals and birds. In the present context it means a group of living people, and is used in parallel to the word “clan”.

Line 9. The basic meaning of the word ᵀᵀ is similar to that of the word 'ᵀ in line 1. In common speech ᵀ ᵀᵀ is the normal name for the Yi people, but here it simply refers to the seven sub-clans.

Of the names of the seven sub-clans, the first two may be totemistic in origin, and the third may have been derived from its proximity to a Chinese settlement. The fourth presumably refers to living in a valley, and fifth to living on a hill slope. The sixth group may have got its name from their skill in the use of bamboo. The aromatic plant wormwood is common on the hills of the Yunnan-Guizhou border. It is called ᵀ ᵀᵀ or ᵀ ᵀᵀ ᵀ', and gives its name to the seventh sub-clan.

M385
Song of the spirit woman and the widower.

Sung by Tao Zi-gai.

Notes.

Lines 3 and 4. The word  $\Gamma^{\text{z}}$  means “quickly and without hesitation”. It can be used of a girl who runs away with a lover, usually to avoid an unwelcome marriage. Here it describes a group of souls climbing quickly upward and with gay abandon. The parallel word in lines 17 and 18 is  $\text{T}^{\text{o}}$ . Of horses and cattle this means “frisky and high spirited”. It also describes a person running with accelerating speed. In this song it describes a group of souls climbing upward quickly and yet more quickly.

Line 7. This line, which is also repeated as lines 12, 21 and 26, is a conventional form of words common in the songs which marks the elapse of some time. It has a picturesque form, “while the sky remained constant”, but means simply “after this” or “afterwards”.

Lines 19 and 20. In both these lines the Miao text reads  $\text{J}^{\text{o}}$ , “woman”, where it should read  $\text{A}^{\text{s}}$ . “man”.

Lines 21 and following. The substitution of “woman” for “man” in lines 19 and 20 has resulted in a succession of further errors in the Miao text.

- 1 Having stated in line 20 that “the woman was like the sunrise”, normal poetic form then demanded that something should be said about the man. To do this line 25 was moved up to follow line 20.
- 2 Unfortunately line 25 stated that the man was like a “flower in full bloom”, and this did not match the “sunrise” in the in the previous line. Accordingly the word  $\text{b}^{\text{n}}$ , “moon” was substituted for  $\text{J}^{\text{z}}$ , “flower”. So amended the line read “full moon” instead of “flower in full bloom”, and this accorded well with the common identification of the sun as a maid and the moon as a youth.
- 3 Having thus dislocated the text, the writer put the remaining lines back together as best he could. Fortunately none was lost in the process. So the sequence of lines in the Miao text is as follows, 20, 25, 21, 23, 24, 26, 22, 27, 28.

A song about head-shaving.

Sung by Zhang De-jiu from Hmao-lo.

Notes.

This song is recorded in Document F (no. 14, page 12).

Line 4. The word  $\Delta^u$ , meaning “black”, is a reference to the dark stems and foliage of the buckwheat. The flower is bright pink.

Line 5. The word  $\overset{u}{J}$  means “food”, but more particularly provisions for a journey. Buckwheat might be cooked and eaten just like rice or maize meal, but it was also made into heavy round cakes, ideal, if rather dry, rations for a journey.

Line 36. In this line  $J_n C\Delta z$  means “waves” or “ridges”, and  $J^- C J^o$  means “crowd”, “herd” or “flock”. Since  $\Lambda^{\bar{o}}$  means “to fly”, the line is presumably a metaphor comparing the waving of the ripening corn to the flapping of the wings of a flock of large birds in flight.

The song of Du-bw the weak one.

Collected by Wang Ming-ji.

Notes.

This song is recorded in Document C (no. 19, page 39)

The following pairs of lines are written as though they are single long lines in the Miao text. 11 and 12, 13 and 14, 26 and 27, 65 and 66, 73 and 74.

Line 2. The expression  $\text{G}^- \text{A}^{\text{n}} \text{J}^{\text{n}} \text{T}^{\text{+}}$  is the name of a place, but there is nothing in the manuscript to indicate where it was located.

Line 8. The name  $\text{T}^{\text{u}} \text{J}^{\text{p}} \text{T}^{\text{u}} \text{J}^{\text{r}} \text{T}_{\text{n}}$ , given to the young Hmao-chi is in two parts. The second part  $\text{T}^{\text{u}} \text{J}^{\text{r}} \text{T}_{\text{n}}$ , means “the person not able”, or “the person not strong”, and is a term of derision. The first part  $\text{T}^{\text{u}} \text{J}^{\text{p}}$ , is probably also derisory. It is not quite certain, but the  $\text{J}^{\text{p}}$  used here may be the word meaning “spotty”. It is used in the name for measles, and also of animals having spotty coats. In the present context it is possibly a reference to the complexion of the young adolescent. Thus the full name may mean “the spotty weakling”.

Line 36. The local Yi landlord is called  $\text{J}^{\text{r}} \text{S}^{\text{5}} \text{A}^{\text{n}} \text{T}^{\text{r}} \text{L}_{\text{n}}$ , but throughout most of the song the  $\text{A}^{\text{n}}$  is omitted.  $\text{T}^{\text{r}} \text{L}_{\text{n}}$  means “the old one”. This is a title widely used in the songs for Miao, Yi, and Chinese leaders, and virtually becomes part of the name. It is difficult to find a suitable translation for a title applied to persons as diverse as a Miao village headman, an Yi landlord, or a Chinese general, but if it is not translated and simply added to the names, these become long and cumbersome. The word “elder” has been used, but it needs to be stripped of any civic or ecclesiastical overtones it may have in English.

Lines 50, 51 and 52. These lines are written without any punctuation as though they were a single long line in the Miao manuscript.

Line 66. The expression  $\text{I}^{\text{'}} \text{S}^{\text{5}} \text{L}_{\text{5}}$  means literally “to take, or lead away”, but it is regularly used to mean “to take in marriage”.
