

M406
Disaster for the frogs.

Told by Wang Ming-ji.

They say that a fox climbed to the edge of a bog, where he heard the frogs croaking and making a great noise. The fox said, “Oh! friends, how beautifully you sing! Do go and bring your other friends and sing to me!” The whole tribe of frogs gathered to croak to the fox, but he gathered them all and ate them.